

THE RESTRAIN OF THE RIGHT TO FREE MOVEMENT OF ROMANIAN CITIZENS ABROAD

Anișoara ARAMĂ*

Abstract: The right to free movement is a fundamental right of the citizen. Only with exceptional title, the restrain in exercising some fundamental rights is possible by means of law, but this measure is proportional with the situation that determined it. This measure permits equilibrium between the citizens' rights and the general interests of the society when the two are in conflict. The possibility of interfering upon the legal text by means of rectification breaks this equilibrium and removes the spirit of European Convention of Human Rights.

Key words: citizen, movement, restrain.
