

THE CHURCH – A FACTOR OF SOCIAL COHESION (A CASE STUDY: THE CHURCHES OF RUPEA)

Mariana BORCOMAN¹

Abstract: As a symbol of a nation's existence, the church uses various non-verbal methods of communication. Because this dimension belongs to human spiritual life, it is sometimes less conspicuous. This is the reason why we bend in humiliation in front of a church, and afterwards we educate our children in the spirit of Christian precepts. The Church offers us support and a feeling of continuity and cohesion. In the Rupea community we have arguments in favor of this assertion.*

Key words: Gospel, capitle, concivity edict, Franciscan monastery.*
