

RECENT STUDIES IN THE SOCIOLOGY OF HEALTH AND ILLNESS

Codrina ȘANDRU<sup>1</sup>

Abstract: This article presents a series of recent studies in the field of health, illness and human disabilities. The approach for treating such a subject is the sociological qualitative methodology focused on presenting some methods which allow us to improve the scientific knowledge and also to be more efficient in order to make social interventions or to work in the social policy field.

Key words: health promotion, illness, disabilities, qualitative methods, social intervention.

---

<sup>1</sup> Dept. of Communication and Social Work, Transilvania University of Brașov